BRING YOUR OWN SUGAR

The sugar shortage is here, probably for the duration; so, there is rationing. In that event B.Y.O.S. (bring your own sugar) may become almost as common as R.S.V.P. on invitations. The welcome guest is the thoughtful guest. Such, for example, as the one who pulls a talcum powder can out of his pocket to sweeten his coffee from his own half pound a week.—Ex.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Flint, of Michel, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Mary Christine Benson, to Bertram Howard Wiber, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Wiber, of Calgary, the marriage to take place next month.

PUBLIC MEETINGS

Arrangements have been made for a series of public meetings to be held in this district during the early part of next week, to be addressed by William Irvine, well known organizer of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Commonwealth Federation.

The first meeting will be held in the Coleman Community hall on Monday night; on Tuesday night in the Miners' hall, Blaimore; Wednesday night in the Miners' hall at Bellevue, and Thursday night in the Miners' hall at Hillcrest.

Subject: "Victory, and After." The public are invited. All meetings start at 7.30 p.m.

AIR CADETS OF CANADA

Acting AC/FO A. R. Bourne, Flight Commander.

D. MacPherson, Adjutant.

THREE YEARS FOR CAR THEFT

Mike Munduk, who stole two cars at Lethbridge the latter part of 1942, pleaded guilty in Nelson, B.C., police court on Wednesday afternoon and was sentenced to three years in the Westminster penitentiary.

The stolen cars were found at Natal on Monday. They were the property of J. R. Perry, of Lethbridge, and Arle De Valois, Barons. The Perry car was badly damaged when found.

Boy War Savings Certificates.

This is the afternoon for Canadian movies in the country school at Appleton, Ontario, and the projectionist, Bill Ritchie, is starting the show. The pictures are productions of the National Film Board of Canada, now being distributed widely in rural Canada. They form part of a project in education for citizenship sponsored by the Dominion in co-operation with the provinces. Bill Ritchie is only one of sixty projectionists who operate these educational travelling theatres. They travel by automobile, by train, and sometimes in winter by sleigh. Like the other operators, Ritchie gives a show a day to school children. The principal movies on this programme for the coming month are "Freighters Under Fire," about the Battle of the Atlantic, and a special item for the schools called "Fur Country," describing the life of the trappers in the region of Hudson's Bay.

At night, Ritchie, and all the projectionists of the National Film Board circuit, show the films to the grown-ups. The audience comes from miles around, eager, interested, with a thirst for knowledge of the war that produces surprising results. One of these, a totally unexpected reaction, is the forum discussion which almost invariably takes place after the show. Farmers, merchants, lumbermen talk the pictures over, and questions fly. Projectionists were, at first, technicians. Today, they are a little more than that. They are virtually masters of ceremonies, conducting forum discussions and answering questions.

Because the scattered residents of many rural communities seldom have the opportunity or incentive to get together in large groups, these forums have provided splendid opportunities for a general exchange of opinion on the whole important question of the war and its meaning to Canadians.

Many interesting subjects have been made by members of the rural movie audiences. The little Indian boys on the Spanish Reservation in Ontario wrote some essays on the new form of entertainment, in which they said they enjoyed the movies very much, especially the pictures of canoes and locomotives. They did, however, have one suggestion for their improvement. They thought there should be more pictures of Indians chasing white men.

INCREASED COMPENSATION RATES ARE PROTESTED

C. Stubbs, commissioner of the Western Canada Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, told the Alberta legislature's agricultural committee that assessments of the Workmen's Compensation Board on the coal industry have almost doubled in the last twelve years.

The association's commissioner was making representations to the committee on behalf of the coal industry in regard to proposed changes in the Workmen's Compensation Act as embodied in a bill now before the legislature.

He said that in 1930, the assessment rate on the coal industry for workmen's compensation was $3.75 per $100 of the payroll. Now it has risen to $6.50 per $100 of payroll. Transfer of medical aid payments from employee to employer as proposed in the bill would raise the present assessment on coal operators from $6.50 to at least $25 per $100 of payroll.

He believed also that the term "accident" should not be widened in the proposed changes. "It will be impossible for the board to administer the act, if the term is changed as proposed and still keep the cost to industry within reason," he said.

The fact that 1942 was the peak year for coal production in Alberta did not mean the coal industry was in a particularly healthy state, Mr. Stubbs said. Mines were now experiencing a labor shortage, and many men now employed were untrained.

He added that ten times out of the 200 in the province were producing more than 50 per cent of the Alberta coal.

The Enterprise has dog tag No. 1 for 1943.

RENTING ROOMS AND INCOME TAX

Income tax relief is offered to householders who rent up to three rooms in their homes. This is how it works:

Add up the rental you are receiving for your one, two or three rooms. Deduct two-thirds of the total. This is to be regarded as "expenses incurred." The remaining third is "net income" and must be included in your income tax return.

In the case where the wife, or a blood relation of the householder, manages the house, then the remaining one-third if looked upon as her income. For example: If a married couple rented three rooms at $600 a year; then $200 is taxable, and $400 deducted as expenses. The $200 is regarded as the wife's income if she managed the house.

This tax concession does not apply to owners of apartments or where four or more rooms are rented. In these cases the owner must keep the usual account of his expenses and submit them for deduction on his income tax return.

Where both husband and wife are working and leave the management of the house to a relative or hired housekeeper, then the income is considered as belonging to the legal owner of the house, either the husband or the wife, as the case may be.

Dr. G. W. Kerby's son, Air Vice-Marshal Harold Kerby, is in command of the R.A.F. in East Africa.

Mrs. D. A. Howe, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston to Calgary today, and will return on Sunday with her daughter Thelma, who has been a patient at the Holy Cross hospital for the past several weeks and is now able to convalesce at home.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Dick Gardiner is in Calgary for treatment to his nose, which was broken in the mine recently.

Harry Terlecki and John Fry have gone to Calgary to enlist in the armed forces.

Pilot Officer Andrew, of the R. C. A. F., is renewing acquaintances here.

George Thornton is on a business trip to Calgary.

People of the Crows' Nest mining district were saddened to hear of the passing of Mr. Stephen Baratsk, a local miner. Mr. Baratsk was in his 55th year. He came to Canada about thirty-four years ago, twenty-seven of which he spent in Hillcrest. Surviving are his loving wife; daughter Mary, who is attending business college in Edmonton; a son, Steve, who is with the R.C.A.F. Another daughter, Annie (Mrs. M. Figura), predeceased him six years ago. He has one sister residing in Czechoslovakia. Mr. Baratsk had been ill for some time. The remains will be laid to rest in St. Theresa's cemetery on Sunday afternoon.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Horning have returned to their home at De Winton from a visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Swart.

F. A. Tustian is recovering from injuries sustained on Friday, when a horse kicked him, breaking two ribs and necessitating a rush trip to the doctor.

Harry Gunn and family are moving from the east end to the central part of town.

A new barber shop will be opened up on main street, near the post office, early in April.

Wilfrid Portier has returned from a trip to eastern Canada. He reports living conditions much better in the west than they are in the eastern part of the Dominion.

RED CROSS CANVASS

The canvass locally in connection with the Red Cross campaign is expected to get under way next week and the week following.

Canvassers are being allocated districts in which to work, and as soon as these arrangements are completed, it is hoped that everybody will be called on for their contribution and we bespeak a cordial reception when they call.

However, it is not always possible to see parties at the time when the canvassers make their rounds, so, should you not receive a call, you may send your donation to Mrs. A. R. Granger, treasurer of the Blaimore branch of the Red Cross.

Remember the Red Cross slogan: Give, human suffering is greater than ever—give double, give now.

WHY THIS CENSORSHIP?

Numerous protests are reaching this newspaper from persons whose letters are being censored. They write to friends in Canada and find the censorship pasted on them. It is annoying, even if it gives rise to no inconvenience, and sometimes there is inconvenience due to delay.

If the necessities of the war demands such censorship, we must, of course, put up with it. But what is the purpose? What possible information can an enemy get from a letter passing between two correspondents in Canada? And what possible good can the authorities do by picking a sample of letters for censorship and letting the bulk of them go through untouched?

A word of explanation as to the end sought, if there is a definite end, would serve to placate a lot of resentful people.—Vancouver Province.

THE PASS EIGHTY YEARS AGO

(The Blaimore Enterprise, 1925)

March 26.—Mrs. D. A. Howe and children will return from England the latter part of April.

The Baker and Palm Beach hotels were destroyed by fire on Wednesday of last week, with loss set at $5,000,000.

The Blaimore Elks' degree team won favor at Nanton this week, and were handed a "big fat" cheque to help cover their travelling expenses.

April 2.—The death of Mrs. Kathleen Elwin, wife of George Elwin, occurred at Sandwich on March 25th.

The death occurred at Calgary on Tuesday of this week of James Hunter, father of former Rev. J. F. Hunter, of Blaimore, at the ripe age of 88. The remains were laid to rest at Nanton.

A Lodge of Elks was instituted at Nanton this week with a charter membership of 123.

Navigation on the Great Lakes was reported open this week, the earliest for many years.

The Elks' dramatic troupe was chartered to Fernie and Cranbrook by Bill Sangster, Bill Lornie and Bill Henderson. All returned safely with "The Private Secretary."

Two local workmen were discussing politics. Said one: "I dunno what a Socialist is. Can you tell me?" "Sure," said the other. "You got shilling and give me half. I got crown and keeps it."

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Morgan were away on a visit to Wales.

April 9.—Frank Leary was elected president of the local union, with A. Caceion, vice-president; W. Oakes, financial secretary and treasurer, and D. A. Howe, secretary. David Morris was elected president at Bellevue, with Jack Brookes as secretary-treasurer.

Captain James A. Farquhar, veteran Halifax seaman, at the age of 83, was commanding the bridge of a new ship crossing over from England.

NEW POSTAL RATES APRIL 1ST

New postal rates applying only to first-class mail will go into effect on April 1st. The local city or town rate will be 3 cents instead of 2, and the general rate for out of town will be 4 cents instead of 3. The air mail rate will be 7 cents instead of 6.

To meet this requirement a new four-cent stamp in red is being prepared, and is expected to be available about April 15th. A new three-cent stamp for drop letters addressed within the town will be issued, but its color has not yet been decided upon.

The government, it is estimated, expects to net about $8,000,000 from the increase.

NON-TRESPASSING MINERS

The suave words of John L. Lewis in conveying the attitude of the United Mine Workers towards the current contract negotiations do not succeed in concealing a very serious threat to American war production, domestic comfort and the fight against inflation. When Mr. Lewis blandly assures mine owners that unless an agreement is signed before April 1st, "it is a safe assumption . . . the miners will not trespass your property," he threatens a strike. "Refusing to trespass" might not be a strike in the technical sense. It might wessel around the no-strike pledge of labor, but it would result in the same end: a stoppage of coal production.—Christian Science Monitor.

The reason they call a boat "she" is because you seldom get tired steering one.

Robins, bluebirds and meadowlarks were all seen in the Okotoks district this week.

Mrs. J. B. Harmer is on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. Porter, in Lethbridge over the week end.

BREAD plays important part in Dominion's High Health Record

DIET PLAYS a large part in national health. And Canadians—whose health record is high—get more than 1/4 of their food energy from bread . . . owe their splendid health in large part to this delicious, energy-giving food.

Bread is exceptionally rich in carbohydrates. And the modern loaf, made with milk, is an important source of protein equal to meat in supplying muscular energy.

Eat plenty of bread with each meal, and keep in fine form for today's emergencies!

YOUR BAKER'S SKILL, scientific equipment—and the finest ingredients—give you a loaf unsurpassed in wholesomeness and delicious flavor.

In Nazi Germany

A FEW WEEKS AGO the German people observed the tenth anniversary of the founding of the National Socialist regime. As everyone knows, this unannounced anniversary was marked by a powerful attack on Berlin by British and Canadian bombers, and by news of serious German defeats in Russia and Africa. The dismal and apologetic radio addresses arranged by leaders of the Nazi party, were interrupted by the crash of British bombs, and it appeared that the day could in no way have been called one of happy celebration by the German people. In his early years in office, Hitler assured his people that the policy of his party was not to involve the country in war, nor to conquer and annex other nations. Yet after ten years nearly 5,000,000 Germans have died on foreign battlefields in Hitler's wars of aggression, and many thousands are homeless because of air attacks.

Workers' Lot Has Declined

In connection with the progress of the German people under the Hitler regime, some very interesting facts and figures have recently been given out by the British Ministry of Information. The lot of the farmer has appeared to decline steadily in the past ten years. It is said that between 1932 and 1939 the number of men engaged in farm work decreased by one million, and the decline has continued since that time. Industrial workers have also had a difficult time. In 1933 all Trades Unions were abolished, their funds being seized and their leaders arrested. All workers' rights were also abolished, overtime work became general and the number of industrial accidents rose from 397,000 in 1929 to 1,766,000 in 1938.

Public Health Record Poor

Malnutrition is said to have increased greatly among German workers and there has been a decline in the standard of national health. In the past ten years, deaths from infectious diseases have risen by 200%; mortality among children between the ages of one and five has increased by 12%, and of children between five and ten by 25%. Under the republican system of government in Germany there was one medical doctor to every 1,300 people, but in 1941, there was only one doctor to every 15,000 people. These facts show clearly that living conditions under Nazi rule are far from happy for the common people, and they serve to remind us again of the things for which we are fighting. When we compare conditions here with those in Germany today, we see that we must at all costs make sure that it is our way of life which survives this war.

HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA

THREE SQUARE MEALS A DAY

THREE NUTRITIOUS MEALS A DAY are needed by every worker for maximum health. This is particularly true of war workers who must maintain their health at a high standard to prevent absenteeism, accidents and attain better production. As "Three full nutritious meals for personal health and that of our families necessitates planning and providing three good meals a day. Those who live away from home can accept the same responsibility through careful selection of meals and allowing adequate time in which to eat.

Breakfast is usually the worst meal of the day. Many workers dash off to work after bolting a slice of toast and a cup of tea. Imagine toiling at heavy manual labor all morning with practically nothing for breakfast! Good meals to be enjoyed and used to best advantage by the worker must provide foods selected for their nutritive value, be well-cooked and served in attractive, pleasant surroundings in a cheerful atmosphere. Management owes it to workers to provide such facilities for their meals in the plant.

What the worker will select for his noon meal or take in his well-filled lunch box will depend upon what he has for his other two meals. A total daily food supply should contain the following foods: (1) A pint of milk, that is, two glasses of milk, and you can count cheese or butter-milk as part of that. (2) A serving of meat, poultry or sea foods. (3) One egg. (4) An orange, or tomato, or a serving of grapefruit, orange juice, tomato juice or raw cabbage. (5) One or more servings of leafy green or yellow vegetables, such as spinach, kale, chard, carrots, etc. (6) Two or more servings of potatoes, other vegetables or fruit. (7) A serving of whole grain cereals, such as rolled oats, cracked wheat, etc. Bread should be of the whole wheat variety. (8) Fats, such as butter, with added vitamin A, and such other foods as you may want to satisfy the appetite, including of course a sufficient amount of water to drink.

Make sure of your three squares a day and you'll do a better job.

THE GREATER MENACE

The Nazis are reviving the old cry "We are saving the world from Bolshevism." Caught in a trap of his own making, says the Ottawa Citizen, Arithmetic is linked with the answer. Hitler is whistling to keep up his courage. As for the rest of the world, it has seen Nazi terrorism at work and knows which is the greater menace.

PART OF LESSONS

Since salvage was introduced into lessons at Marshfield, Dorsetshire, Church of England school, pupils have treasured the school's scrap target. Arithmetic is linked with the answer of salvage required to make various items of war material and for English composition the children write letters of thanks for salvage.

HORSE VACCINATION

Necessary For The Prevention Of Equine Encephalomyelitis

Although the history of equine encephalomyelitis is well known to many, it is well perhaps to review the matter and mention some of the more recent findings in connection with the disease that stock owners may well appreciate, not only the economic side, but the newer aspect, that pertaining to public health.

Sleeping sickness of horses in Saskatchewan was first recognized as such in 1930 when a fairly extensive outbreak occurred. In 1936, few cases appeared, but in 1937, a second and more extensive epidemic occurred, followed in 1938 by one that was so severe that some 15,000 horses were lost.

It was extremely difficult at first to control the disease since there was no suitable immunizing agent available. In 1938, however, Chick Evans, a veterinarian, introduced a vaccine which we have found to be almost 100% effective; in fact it is quite safe to state that a horse properly vaccinated prior to an outbreak occurring will not contract the disease. In spite of this disease being ideal for the purpose of preventive medicine, unfortunately the opportunity has not been grasped, with the result that many cases have developed annually, whereas the disease could perhaps have been completely controlled had vaccine been used regularly.

After the extensive outbreak of 1938, stock owners were alarmed, with the result that, in the spring of 1939, some 450,000 horses were vaccinated in the Province of Saskatchewan alone. Whether or not this program had any bearing on the incidence of the disease that year, it is true that very few cases occurred, and those which did were confined to non-vaccinated animals. Because of the freedom from the disease in 1939, there was not the same keen interest in vaccination as in previous years, and therefore comparatively few animals were protected. Luck was again with us that year, and although a few cases developed throughout the Province, there was nothing approaching epidemic.

Because of comparative freedom from the disease for two years, many were of the opinion that further vaccination was unnecessary and very little was done in the spring of 1941. With amazing suddenness, however, an outbreak commenced in the middle of June, cases being recognized in quite distant parts of the Province at the same time. Since manufacturers concern anticipated considerable spring vaccination, large stocks were on hand early in the year, but with the outbreak occurred, most of this vaccine was out-dated and of no value. Owing to an extremely early break in the United States, American companies were unable to send further shipments of new vaccine, and because of this, there was an acute shortage throughout western Canada. That as many horses as possible be protected, the Department of Veterinary Science at the University of Saskatchewan increased production and distributed sufficient vaccine to keep the outbreak fairly well under control. This was accomplished with a great deal of difficulty and sacrifice on the part of the staff of the Department who worked long hours throughout the season.

That such an unfortunate situation may not arise this year, stock owners should vaccinate their animals in April or May; do not wait until an outbreak occurs. The loss by the death of one or two horses is very much greater than the necessary outlay for the protection of a fair sized stud or for the purchase of a bottle of serum to treat one developed case.

In many instances last year, farmers waited until the disease actually appeared in their district and made until it appeared in their stud, before taking any action. It should be realized that horses may yet be necessary for the carrying on of our agricultural pursuits; mechanical power may be extremely difficult to secure and the consumption of fuel may be further curtailed at any time. The farmer who depends entirely on truck and tractor power may be in a very precarious position and it seems to be economically sound to protect every available horse. Not only could work-horses be vaccinated; young animals should be vaccinated as well, since they may be absolutely essential in the future to do work on farms, or to take the place of delivery trucks in cities, which very shortly may be off the road entirely.

During the years encephalomyelitis was common among horses in Saskatchewan, physicians reported an increasing number of cases of encephalitis in man, and the question arose as to whether or not there was any relationship between the two infections. In 1938, the year the disease was so prevalent in horses, some 50 cases were recognized in man and during the following year, we isolated the equine virus from three human cases. Just prior to this discovery, workers in the United States also found that man was susceptible to the Eastern type of the horse virus.

Although it was definitely shown that man is susceptible to the virus, and that, as a result, people had actually died in Saskatchewan, little was done by the government until last year when the most extensive human epidemic ever recorded occurred in the northern States of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. During the course of this outbreak, we were successful in isolating the virus from man from two cases, and later proved by blood tests that the entire outbreak was due to the same germ as equine encephalomyelitis. In Saskatchewan alone, 550 persons contracted the disease, eight per cent of whom died.

To state that horses were responsible for the human epidemic seems hardly wise because of our limited knowledge of how the human infection occurs. It is true, however, that the elimination of this disease in the horse, undoubtedly a virus reservoir when infected, appears to be sound practice, and this can only be done by yearly vaccination. No one can predict what may happen in the future in regard to human or equine encephalitis, but if the behavior of the horse disease is any criterion we must not expect that the human disease will never recur.

There are a number of points in connection with the equine and the human disease which are of great interest. For example when the equine disease first appeared in Saskatchewan, it was recognized as such in 1930 when a fairly extensive outbreak occurred. In 1936, few cases appeared, but in 1937, a second and more extensive epidemic occurred, followed in 1938 by one that was so severe that some 15,000 horses were lost.

To state that horses were responsible for the human epidemic seems hardly wise because of our limited knowledge of how the human infection occurs. It is true, however, that the elimination of this disease in the horse, undoubtedly a virus reservoir when infected, appears to be sound practice, and this can only be done by yearly vaccination. No one can predict what may happen in the future in regard to human or equine encephalitis, but if the behavior of the horse disease is any criterion we must not expect that the human disease will never recur.

Propaganda Programs

Sent By Axis Radio Stations In Europe And Aimed At Canada.

Axis radio stations in Europe are aiming propaganda programs at French-Canada and at certain nationalist minorities in the prairie provinces. Wm. Gladstone Murray, former director-general of broadcasting for Canada, declared.

Murray said these Axis broadcasts contain offers of independent forms of government in the so-called new order of Nazi world control.

Canada still has no short-wave radio transmitter, Murray told the Business & Professional Women's Club of Toronto, and is unable to communicate any message of hope or encouragement to the conquered peoples of Europe.

On the other hand, Murray said, the enemy is using the short wave for the dissemination of rumors in Canada. Fortunately, their lack of human appeal and humor, rather than any counter-measures, have saved the situation, Murray added.

Fight Against Submarines Is Just Beginning

London.—Indications have multiplied that Germany is now pushing her greatest submarine offensive since the spring of 1917 in an effort to delay the impending Anglo-American invasion of Europe until her armies can make a final attack to crush Russia.

London and Washington released, almost simultaneously, vivid descriptions of two last battles between Allied warships and German submarines "wolf packs," possibly to prepare the public for the bitter battles to come which the Allies must win, most observers believed, before they can attack Hitler's "European fortress."

At least 14 submarines were sighted on the surface and many others were known to have been beneath the surface during a three-day running attack on an Allied convoy in the north Atlantic last month, the British admiralty revealed.

Another wolf pack of at least six submarines was reported by the U.S. navy department to have been laying in wait for another Allied convoy in the north Atlantic last month.

Sketchy information available indicated that the Germans were concentrating most of their submarines, estimated at upwards of 500, in the north Atlantic while the Italians shared the burden of attacks in the south Atlantic.

The Anglo-American-Canadian anti-submarine conferences recently concluded in Washington indicated that the Allied naval command already is searching for, and perhaps has found, a solution to Germany's present intensive submarine campaign.

"These preparations are being made none too soon," the London Daily Mail commented. "The U-boat peril is at its height. In 1943, Hitler's only chance to avert the certain doom of his regime is somehow to stop the coming Allied offensive in the west."

"The only way he can do that is by disrupting our supply lines by reducing to a mere trickle the mighty stream of materials and reinforcements which will be needed to sustain this offensive. His only instrument is the submarine."

"The real fight has not yet begun. The U-boat war will reach its height between April and October in the good weather months, when Germany may be expected to attack with new submarines and bigger wolf packs."

"We should therefore accept with caution the recent statement that the U-boat already is as good as defeated."

STEEP ROCK IRON

To Develop Property Which Lies West Of Port Arthur

Toronto.—Steep Rock Iron Mines Limited has brought to a successful conclusion its negotiations for funds to develop the property which lies west of Port Arthur and the work will now proceed at all possible speed with expectation of bringing the mine to the production stage within 17 months from the present. This announcement is made in a lengthy official statement to the shareholders.

Under agreements concluded the company will have available $8,727,500 in Canadian funds and, according to the company's engineers, this sum will be sufficient to put the mine on a production basis. Plans envisage production of 2,000,000 tons of ore annually and at that rate of mining the estimated ore reserves would keep the plant operating 50 years.

The bulk of the money is assured from the United States. Under a four per cent. first mortgage bond the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Washington, D.C., is advancing $5,000,000 and Otis and Company of Cleveland, Ohio, has underwritten at 90 a debenture issue of $2,250,000 from which will be realized $2,025,000. The Dominion and the Ontario governments are also contributing to the development of the Steep Rock property. The federal government has undertaken to advance to the Canadian National Railways the cost of constructing spur line and docks at Port Arthur, thus relieving the company of an estimated outlay of $500,000.

Saving Of Lives One Object Of National Plan

Ottawa.—Saving young lives was set forth as one of the objects towards which national health policies should be directed in the report of the advisory committee on health insurance in which was formulated Canada's first national health insurance plan, now before a special committee of the House of Commons.

The report, prepared by a group under the chairmanship of Dr. J. J. Heagerty, director of public health services, portrays both the economic and social loss due to deaths of infants and children.

With immigration to Canada curtailed in recent years and with the birth rate declining, a reduction in child deaths was held out as particularly desirable under present conditions.

It gave statistical tables to show that recent years have been marked by a reduction in infant deaths in Canada. In 1926 there were 13,537 deaths of children under one year and the figure steadily declined to 7,844 in 1940.

The capital value of a male child, it stated, had been estimated at $4,600. Using these estimates deaths of infants from 1926 to 1940 inclusive in Canada represented a loss to the nation of $1,915,536,000.

"Conservation of the human plankage should be one of the main tasks in our Canadian policy," said the health insurance committee report.

Pensions Minister Mackenzie described the Heagerty report as "undoubtedly the most comprehensive report on health insurance ever compiled in this or any other country" in submitting it to the House of Commons social security committee.

Canada's national increase of population was 34.7 from 1911 to 1921, the report said, 18.08 from 1921 to 1931 and 10.89 per cent. from 1931 to 1941.

Among Canadian provinces Quebec showed the heaviest natural increase on the basis of the 1940 Canadian rate of 11.7. Quebec's rate was 15.7, British Columbia was low with 6.9. Other provinces were listed as: Prince Edward Island, 11; Nova Scotia, 11.8; New Brunswick, 14.9; Ontario, 8; Manitoba, 11.6; Saskatchewan, 13.8; Alberta, 14.1.

In a comparative list of countries Canada rated 17th as far as low infant mortality rates were concerned in 1937. The Canadian rate was 75 deaths per 1,000 births.

The latest Canadian figure on infant mortality was 56 in 1940 and in that year the rates for the provinces were: Prince Edward Island, 65; Nova Scotia, 62; New Brunswick, 60; Quebec, 70; Ontario, 45; Manitoba, 51; Saskatchewan, 51; Alberta, 48; British Columbia, 38.

Canada ranked fifth among a list of nations for low death rate generally. The Canadian rate of 10.2 per 1,000 of population in 1937.

In a section pointing to the health of Canada in 1941 the report said it might well be called an epidemic year. Measles prevalence was about double the five-year average. Manitoba and Saskatchewan had epidemics of poliomyelitis and encephalomyelitis.

Deaths from heart disease and cancer were up and there was an increase in tuberculosis deaths over the previous year.

Heart disease was the greatest killer among diseases and cancer second.

BUILDING PROGRAM

Britain Is Preparing Plan For Reconstruction After The War

London.—The first indication of steps the British government intends to take to overcome problems of demobilization and turn over to peacetime production has been presented in a white paper revealing a house-building program to reconstruct bomb-battered Britain after the war.

The paper, work of a committee headed by Sir Ernest Simon, envisaged a 12-year plan being ready when war ends which would require a trained labor force of about 1,250,000 building trade workers. Another 4,000,000 would find employment in the preparation of materials and the provision of essential subsidiary services.

Tree Planting Car Rolls Again

To instruct and educate Canadians in the value of planting and cultivating trees to conserve water, provide wind-breaks to check soil drifting, and to beautify otherwise treeless areas, the Canadian Forestry Association is again sending its Tree Planting car, under the direction of Alan M. Heaven, over Canadian Pacific Railway lines in southwestern Manitoba and southeastern Saskatchewan. Provided by the C.P.R., the car is fitted with seats to make it into a travelling theatre and there motion pictures are used, with other forms of instruction, to tell the important story of tree planting. ## High Objective For The Fourth Victory Loan

Ottawa.—Canada's Fourth Victory Loan opening April 26 will have an objective of 1,100,000,000 and will require considerable increases in subscriptions by private individuals. Finance Minister Tully said in a statement to the House of Commons.

Individual subscribers will be called upon to contribute $500,000,000 of the total, an increase of some 33 per cent. compared with the Third Victory Loan last autumn, Mr. Tully said.

"To reach this objective for individuals we will need to obtain participation on a much wider scale than in the past and individual purchases will need to be sharply increased."

The finance minister recalled that in his budget speech he had estimated the borrowing needs for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1944, at $2,748,000,000.

Previous loans, including the Third Victory Loan which provided $921,000,000 from more than 2,000,000 subscribers, had given Canadians cause for pride.

"The present situation clearly calls for even more impressive results and the minimum cash objective for the Fourth Victory Loan will be $1,100,000,000," he said.

"As I have emphasized in the budget speech we are primarily concerned with selling Victory bonds in greater amounts and to a greater number of Canadians."

There were three reasons for this policy. Large sums were required for prosecution of the war, increased spending power not directed into savings would lead to inflation, and the government desired that "more and more of our government obligations should find their way into the hands of our ordinary citizens."

The interests of these people of moderate means could best be served by owning "a share in Canada."

In all Victory loans substantial support was provided by non-banking financial institutions and industrial organizations.

"This source of borrowing can only go so far, however, as new corporate funds ordinarily available for investment now are subject to strict limitations, such as excess profits tax."

"In the Third Victory loan purchases made by this class of investor accounted for the very large sum of $600,000,000. I am sure that such investors, as in the past, will do their utmost to provide leadership of the highest quality in the forthcoming Victory loan."

"It is evident, however, that in any case the balance remaining to be met by individual purchasers will be greatly increased. To succeed in passing the minimum objective of $1,100,000,000 will require purchases by individuals of $500,000,000 or more—an increase over Third Victory loan results of 33 per cent. or thereabouts for the country as a whole."

"To reach this objective for individuals we will need to obtain participation on a much wider scale than in the past and individual purchases will need to be sharply increased."

"I am confident we can and will meet this challenge."

NORTH AIR ROUTE

Plan Trip From Boston To Moscow In Eighteen Hours

Boston.—An application, labelled as the first of its kind filed by a domestic airline, proposed the institution of air routes across the north Atlantic from Boston to London, Moscow and intermediate north European cities.

Northeast Airlines, Inc., announcing it had filed the application with the civil aeronautics board in Washington, said the proposed Boston-to-Moscow flight would permit a distance of about 5,000 miles to be travelled in 18 hours at a probable cost "no greater than that of a third class trans-Atlantic steamship fare."

London would be reached from here in 14 hours; Paris and Amsterdam in an additional hour.

Allies May Use New Strategy Against Burma

New Delhi.—American and Chinese soldiers soon may join the British forces in an inch-by-inch push against the Japanese in Burma, the back door to China.

The Americans and Chinese, together with British and Indian troops, are undergoing training in the tactics that Daniel Boone used to conquer the wilderness.

The current fighting in Burma and the nature of training being given troops in India both indicate that the reconquest of Burma may be undertaken on an inch-by-inch basis rather than waiting for the end of the monsoon next fall to launch an all-out drive.

It had been believed that Allied planes envisaged a full-scale attack on Burma from the sea. But the recent destruction of the Japanese convoy in the Bismarck sea—with its reiteration of the by-now well-known fact that ships dare not move into waters controlled by enemy airplanes—may have brought about a change in the strategy of the high command.

If that is the case, it would mean that the Allies will concentrate on an overland attack from India.

But the season of hot weather has arrived and the monsoons are only 45 days away in some sections of Burma. That means that no large-scale attack against Burma can be undertaken before early fall and that dreams of reopening the Burma road and pouring men and supplies into China over that route will remain dreams for months to come.

The Japanese hold almost all of Burma.

The possibility of a Japanese move against India, generally discounted despite the recent renewal of enemy activity in the Akyab area.

However, the Japanese are giving no signs that these bombings will cause them to relax their hold on Burma.

They have built a whole network of airports throughout Burma, in a position to attack an Allied fleet far out in the Bay of Bengal if an attempt is made to land an amphibious force.

THE ATLANTIC CHARTER

The dawn of the New Year ushered in a brighter day for the Allies and probably marked the noon-hour of the titanic struggle. Old John Bull, with pipe and paunch, has been in a funkhole for 25 years, and it has taken a long time for re-conditioning. Let us hope that never again shall the British Empire be disarmed, but that it will always be ready to fight the moment that anyone is disposed to toss his hat into the ring. Only in preparedness is there assurance of peace and security.

The present political turmoil in French North Africa is a sample of what has been going on in France for 25 years. Even the national disaster has not brought an end to the fighting and squabbling of 20 different political groups. A government would be elected and kicked out in 24 hours. As elsewhere, the only thought of politicians is to get their nose in the trough, and keep it there. Spies, quislings and 5th columnists completed the wreck and when the Germans struck the country collapsed.

The recognition by the Allies of Admiral Darlan as high commissioner of French North Africa was, perhaps, as stated, a temporary expedient. But, for General de Gaulle and the Fighting French it smelt the first stinkweed of the season. It is a sturdy weed which thrives in the field of international politics and is a prolific cause of war. For years Darlan had been held up by the allied press as a traitor, renegade, quisling and all round bad man, who should be destroyed. Along comes a young man who does the job. The speedy drum-head court-martial, if any was held, and immediate execution, have been shrouded in too much suspicious secrecy. The thought of the young man was to save his country—not to destroy it. Even his name has been suppressed.

We hear a lot about the Atlantic Charter. During Great War I, the Liberty Charter was the main propaganda of the Allies. It was heralded as the tocsin of a New Age and better things. The principal plank was "We shall fight until, among other things, Belgium, Serbia and Montenegro are free and independent." The betrayal of Montenegro and Armenia by the Allies were two of the most treacherous acts of history. If it is no better than the Liberty Charter of days gone by, the Atlantic Charter will not be worth a hoot. And, if the experience of the past is any guide, that may be about its value. Unless justice is done to Montenegro, Armenia, Finland, Austria, Korea and others, the solid foundation for the next war will be well laid.

The enlistment of women for the armed forces goes on with unabated fury. It is an additional sign of the decadence of the race. They are taken from work for which they are fitted, and placed where they are not wanted. The sight of women parading about in the uniforms of major-general and high officers of the army, is enough to make a real soldier throw up his stomach.

There is a suspicion—well founded—and it has been voiced in some quarters, that we are fighting for the British Empire and what is called imper-

RELIGION

People are talking about teaching religion in the schools. It is a good idea, but a better one would be to teach it in the homes.

For over a generation, the trend has been away from religious teaching at home. Parents have depended upon the Sunday schools and the churches to instill a knowledge of Christianity and the Bible into youthful minds.

"The first world war may have been partly responsible for this trend. May be this conflict will result in a new awakening. King George of Britain, in a Christmas message given three years ago, provided the inspiration when he said:

"I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year, 'Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown.' He replied, 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than the known way.'"

"So I went forth and finding the hand of God trod gladly into the night. And he led towards the hills and the breaking of the day in the lone east."—Ex.

THE REAL TRUTH.

According to Jesus' words: "Seek ye first the kingdom of heaven, and if ye find it, the rest shall be added unto you. After ye have found the glory of God with Jesus at His right side, the spirits shall come unto you and abide with you, as God and Jesus did with me. And Jesus said: What ye hear in the ears preach ye at the house top. I heard them talking to me many times, and even recognize two of them. Their voices are identically the same as in their living on this earth. Some know they need to be born again who never see the glory of God with Jesus and do not hear the spirits talking to them. Verily in truth—Alex. Verguenne.

An Eye Opener

The visiting minister, after a very cold drive, arrived a few minutes before evensong at an out-of-the-way church to find a steaming hot whiskey toddy thoughtfully left for him in the doorway. Without touching it, however, he proceeded to robe himself and called for the reverend. "My friend," he said, beaming at his would-be benefactor. "I appreciate your kindness and thoughtfulness in providing for me a hot drink that would appear to be a—er—a stimulant; but I must gratefully decline for three reasons. In the first place, I am a lifelong teetotaler; secondly, I am making temperance the subject of my sermon this evening; and thirdly, I've had one already."

A suit of war uniform is being turned out every eight seconds in Canada.

March came in like a lion in Southern Alberta, and looks as though it might go out like (7).

Alberta has exceeded its Red Cross quota of $400,000 by at least another ten thousand, and the drive is by no means finished.

Down in Tampa, Fla., a chief has been sentenced to two years in the state prison on charges of illegally purchasing a large quantity of meat.

Islam. The two are synonymous and inseparable. These worried individuals may be assured that it is just what we are fighting for. The Empire, in collusion with France, has made terrible mistakes and has been guilty of the basest of treacheries, for which we now pay in full. In looking about this sordid world, we can see nothing better, or, for our ideals and the glorious traditions of the past, nearly as good. So, for the Empire, we shall fight all corners, and, in the words of the immortal Bard, "Darned be he who cries enough."

"The battle joins, and in a moment's fight, Death, or joyful conquest, ends the fight."

LEGALLY SPEAKING

If a layman gives an orange to you, he simply says: "Have an orange." But when a lawyer puts the transaction in legal form, he writes: "I hereby give and convey all and singular my estate and interests, title, right, claim and advantages of and in said orange, together with all its rind, juice, pulp and pipe, and all rights and advantages therein, with full power to bite, cut, suck and otherwise to eat the same or give the same away with or without the rind, juice, pulp or pipe, in anything hereinbefore, or hereinafter or in any other means of whatever nature or kind whatsoever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding."

And then another lawyer comes along and takes it away from you.

A number of parents paid a visit to Coalfields school St. Patrick's day. Miss Sutherland wanted them to see for themselves the improved methods of teaching. The classes were put through their regular routine just as if no visitors were present. The teacher explained that the new "Enterprise" system is designed to teach individual initiative, a co-operative spirit and democratic ideals, thus fitting the pupils to meet the problems of adult life. The behavior of the children reflected credit both on the teacher's discipline and control and on the home life and training. A tribute to the Irish Saint was given in several songs of Erin to the accompaniment of two guitars. It all ended up with a nice little picnic lunch party provided by the girls of division 3 and 2. The table was tastefully decorated with shamrocks and green ribbons.—W. D. McDowall.

GOD SAVE THE KING

Sir Edward Beatty, C.B.E., K.C., LL.B., died in Montreal on Tuesday night, aged 65. He resigned the presidency of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company a year ago.

James Joseph Culleton, a pioneer of the Fernie district, coming there with the laying of steel in 1898, passed away suddenly recently at the Kootenay Lakes general hospital. He was born at Bay Roberts, Newfoundland, in March of 1873; and came to Maceled, Alberta, in 1896.

Judge E. S. Livermore ruled in county court at Simcoe, Ontario, that regulations requiring landlords to permit tenants twelve months notice to vacate premises were not within the competence of the parliament of Canada, on the grounds that they meet no emergency arising out of war.

Announcement is made that leave will be granted to a limited number of men on active service in Canada to permit them to help sow crops and assist in other spring work on farms. Each man's application will be considered on its merits, and only soldiers with previous farm experience will be granted leave, the limit of which will be six weeks. Men granted leave will pay their own transportation to and from their farm jobs, and will receive no army pay or allowances during the time they are absent. They will travel in uniform, but wear civilian clothes on the farm.

A citizen approached us on the street the other day and said he quite approved of our remarks regarding the playing of the National Anthem at the close of theatrical performances. "It does not sound like 'God Save the King' at all," he said. "It sounds more like 'Get the hell out of here—the show's over!'"—Bob Edwards' Eye Opener, many years ago.

HOW TO FILL OUT YOUR APPLICATION FOR CANNING SUGAR

This year housewives must estimate in advance the amount of sugar required for canning and jam-making, so that arrangements may be made to provide and distribute the necessary supplies. Applications must be sent in to your Local Ration Board by April 15th. Use the application in your new Ration Book for this purpose.

Canning sugar will be allowed for all fresh fruits, including citron and wild fruits. Marrow, tomatoes and pumpkins are considered as vegetables and no canning sugar will be allowed for them.

HOW TO FIGURE OUT THE AMOUNT OF SUGAR NEEDED

CANNING
Allow 1½ lb. of sugar for each quart sealer.

Estimate the TOTAL number of quart sealers you plan to put up—then use the quick, practical method of allowing 1½ lb. of sugar for each quart sealer. Don't try and decide exactly the number of each kind of fruit you plan to put up. Some fruits may be more plentiful than others. Base your estimates on the number of sealers you have on hand, what you put up last year, or what you think your needs will be this year.

Your completed application must be sent to your Local Ration Board by Estimates based on these methods are within the canning sugar ration and are satisfactory for wartime canning and jam and jelly making, as proven by test in the Dominion Department of Agriculture experimental kitchens.

APPLICATION FOR CANNING SUGAR

NAME: MRS. JOHN JONES
ADDRESS: 40 MAIN STREET, CENTREVILLE, ONTARIO
CITY: KENTVILLE, ONTARIO
COUNTY: KENT
PROVINCE: ONTARIO

I am applying for sugar for canning and jam and jelly making. I estimate that I will need 40 quarts of fruit of different kinds. I allow one-half pound of sugar for each quart, and therefore will need 20 pounds of sugar for canning. I decide that I will put up 6 quarts of jam and jelly. I allow 1½ pounds of sugar for each quart of jam, and therefore will need 9 pounds of sugar for jam and jelly making.

I add the two amounts of sugar together (20 + 9) and write the total (29 pounds) on my application, together with the number of persons I intend to feed in my own household. To her own fully completed application form she attaches the application forms of the other persons in her household she is planning to feed. Only the individual serial numbers need be given on these accompanying application forms.

JAM or JELLY MAKING
Allow 1½ lb. of sugar for each quart of jam or jelly.

Most people use jars of various shapes and sizes. Take a number of the jars you usually use and see how many cups of water they hold. Four (4) cups make a quart. In this way you will be able to estimate the number of quarts of jam or jelly your jars will hold. Then allow 1½ lbs. of sugar per quart for your requirements. For example, for 8 quarts of jam or jelly, you will require 12 lbs. of sugar.

IMPORTANT NOTE

The Dominion Department of Agriculture recommends canning fruit in preference to making jam or jelly because:

More fruit can be put up with less sugar and at less cost.
Canned fruit retains more of the vitamin value of the fresh fruit.

WHEN AND HOW CANNING SUGAR WILL BE MADE AVAILABLE

When your Local Ration Board has reviewed your application you will be provided, sometime before June 1st, with special canning sugar coupons. These coupons will entitle you to buy sugar, at any grocery store, at specified intervals. You do not have to buy all your sugar at once.

COMPLETE AND SEND IN YOUR APPLICATION BEFORE APRIL 15

Complete your application form as shown in the illustration and mail it to your Local Ration Board not later than April 15th. Attach the application forms from the ration books of the other persons you will be feeding in your household. Do not write anything but the serial numbers of the owners on these other forms. Simply copy the serial numbers from the front of their ration books on to their application forms and pin them to your own fully completed application.

In estimating your canning and jam-making a cool, dry, dark place. Don't use canned requirements, storage space should be carefully fruits on your table when fresh fruits are considered. Poor storage may cause spoilage available. Plan to use your home-canned fruits and waste. Canned fruit should be kept in the winter months only.

CANADA NEEDS 40 MILLION POUNDS OF FAT

HERE IS YOUR SECRET WEAPON

Save Fats and Bones

AND HELP SMASH THE AXIS!

The next time you are frying or roasting something, just imagine the satisfaction it would give you to pour that hot fat right down the back of Adolph, Tojo or Benito.

You can even do better than that. Fats make glycerine, and glycerine makes high explosives to sink their submarines, destroy their aeroplanes and tanks. Bones produce fat, also, plus for war industry.

Every spoonful of dripping, every ounce of scrap fat, and every bone, cooked, uncooked or dry, must be saved. Strain all drippings through an ordinary strainer into a clean wide-mouthed can. When you have collected a pound or more of fat drippings take it to your meat dealer who will pay you the established price for the dripping and the scrap fat. Or you can dispose of them through any Municipal or Salvage Committee collection system in effect in your community.

You can be a munition maker right in your own kitchen. So—every day, this easy way, keep working for Victory by saving every drop of fat dripping, every piece of scrap fat, and every bone.

This campaign is for the duration.

WAR WHOOP

1943 MODEL

YOU HEAR IT at all hours . . . that long-drawn cry of the locomotive whistle. It's the war whoop of the railways.

It may be a troop train speeding to keep a date with a convoy . . . it may be a long freight loaded with tanks, guns and other materials of war, many of them built by the railways themselves . . . it may be another week's supply of raw materials to keep a war plant in production, or food, fuel and other essentials for the home front.

It is the proud war whoop of Canada's greatest war industry—the railways, which are serving the nation as effectively in war as in peace. Only the railways can furnish mass transportation on such a scale.

Your railways were ready . . . ready in war, so that Canada could strike with all her might. They will be ready to peace again to serve a greater Canada . . . rolling ever forward on highways of steel.

Was Quite Correct

But Recruit Was Thinking Of Another Kind Of Adjutant

The young recruit, a university graduate, was appearing before the army examination board.

The first "intelligence" question was: "What is an adjutant?"

Came the reply: "An adjutant is a large bird of uncouth appearance. It has an almost bald head, a tremendous capacity for eating and acts as a public scavenger. It can swallow a cat with ease."

The examining officer almost fainted.

Subsequent investigation, however, proved that the recruit was correct. He was an almost word-by-word definition as laid down in the National and Everyman's encyclopaedia.

NAVAL AWARDS FOR C.N.S. OFFICERS

Honors and promotions have been received by 12 former officers of the Canadian National Steamships now serving in the Royal Canadian Navy.

All of those so honored are professional seamen who entered active service from their peacetime assignments through the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve. Five of them, commencing as apprentices, served their entire sea-going career with the company. Of those who were accorded recognition in the Honors List, three were appointed to be officers of the Military Division of the Order of the British Empire, and one was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

Eight officers of the Royal Canadian Navy who had formerly served on the deck, in the engine room and in the purser's department of the Canadian National Steamships received promotions. Shown above:

Order of the British Empire:
1. Lieutenant-Commander N. V. Clarke, R.C.N.R., whose home is in Halifax. He was formerly a first officer in the Canadian National Steamships.

2. Lieutenant (Engineer) L. G. F. Despres, R.C.N.R., of Montigny, Que., formerly a second engineer in the steamships. He joined the engine room forces of the company in 1930.

3. Lieutenant-Commander (Engineer) A. B. Arnison (Torpedo) of Vancouver, who prior to joining the Canadian Navy had 18 years service with the company's Pacific Coast fleet.

4. Acting Commander D. C. Wallace, R.C.N.R., a native of Pictou, N.S., whose home is in Halifax, and a former Chief Officer with the Canadian National Steamships. He entered the service in 1921.

5. Commander O. C. Robertson advanced from Lieut. Commander. His home is in Montreal. He started his sea-going career with the C.N.S. as an apprentice in 1924, and served with the company until he joined the Navy. He is now senior officer of H.M.C.S. Prince Robert, which the naval department statement terms "a renowned auxiliary cruiser which has figured in several major operations of this war."

To Lieutenant-Commander:

6. A. K. Young, of Montreal, formerly Chief Officer in the C.N.S. service, began as an apprentice in 1922.

7. H. D. MacKay, of Halifax, began as an apprentice in 1930, was Third Officer in 1934, and First Officer when he joined the navy.

8. E. W. T. Surtees (Engineer), of Montreal, a former chief engineer with the steamships, joined the service in 1926, serving in various engine room capacities.

To Paymaster Lieutenant-Commander:

9. C. R. Boggs, of Montreal, joined the C.N.S. in 1931.

10. A. E. B. Sillett, Saint John, N.B., had been in the company's service since June, 1938.

11. H. R. Northrup, whose home is in Saint John, N.B., joined the office of the company in 1931 and became purser's clerk in 1935.

12. W. J. Marshall, of Montreal, joined the staff of the Canadian National Railways in 1930 and two years later transferred to the purser's staff of Canadian National Steamships.

Captain—By George, sir, you are a pessimist.

Lady: "I want to see some kid gloves for my eight-year-old daughter, please."

Clerk: "Yes, madam, white kid?"

Lady: "Sir!"

"I admire the harmony that seems to prevail between you and your wife. Don't you ever have differences of opinion?"

"Oh, yes—very often."

"And yet you get over them so quickly?"

"Ah, that's the secret. I never tell her about them."

Jerry: "How'd you get along with your wife in that fight the other night?"

Gerald: "Oh, she came crawling to me on her knees."

Jerry: "Yes? Well, what did she say?"

Gerald: "Come out from under that bed, you coward!"

Monsieur: "Tonight I will steal beneath your balcony and whisper a sweet serenade."

Madame: "Do, and I will drop you a flower."

Monsieur: "Ah, in a moment of mad love?"

Madame: "No. In a pot!"

Joe: "With whom was your wife quarrelling last night?"

Mo: "Why she was scolding the dog."

Joe: "Poor beast! I heard her threaten to take the front door key away from him."

Explanations and Comments

Jesus Appears to Ten of the Disciples, John 20:19-23. On the evening of the first Easter, in that upper room hallowed by the presence of the Master, the bewildered disciples were met together, secretly, for fear of the Jews. They were crushed by the crucifixion of their Lord, filled with doubt and terror, when Jesus suddenly appeared in their midst and said, "Peace be unto you." The door was closed, and they were terrified (Lk. 24:37), thinking they were gazing at a spirit. To reassure them and to convince them of his identity, Jesus showed them his hands, through which the nails had been driven to fasten him to the cross, and his side, which the soldier's spear had pierced. The disciples believed and were filled with joy.

Again Jesus said to them, "Peace be unto you." This may have been a repetition of his previous greeting, or it may have been that after some unrecorded words he uttered this as a farewell when he was about to leave them. And then he gave them his "Easter commission," as the Catholic Bible terms it, and bade them continue his work: "As the Father hath sent me, even so send I you" were his words. And then came the bestowment of power to carry out his commission—he breathed on them, and exhorted them to receive the Holy Spirit. The Greek word "pneuma," translated "spirit," means literally breath; compare Luke 24:49.

"Inspiration is breathing. It is an uplifting influence of one spirit upon another. A congregation listens to an inspiring address, an audience to inspiring music. Emotion, thoughts, feelings pour from mind to mind. One soul breathes life into another soul. God breathes life into us all. This is inspiration: the elevating, or clarifying influences which one spirit may have upon another spirit. Belief in divine inspiration is belief that God's Spirit has such an influence on human spirits."

The charter which followed the gift—the power of forgiving, or retaining sin—must be understood in connection with the preceding commission and endowment. "The disciples, endowed with Christ's spirit, could not away sin from their community; if they did not, the sin would remain. When Christ says those words to his disciples, he means it, his disciples will be responsible for the continuance of sin in this world. If they follow my example, I will have my spirit, and accept my companionship, they will be able to abolish sin and bring in the kingdom of God. The responsibility is theirs. If they do not abolish sin, it will not be abolished" (Lyman Abbott).

Proposed Motorcade

To Enable People To View The Majestic Scenery On Road To Alaska

Possibility of a "motorcade" over the new Alaska highway this summer to enable civilian motorists to view the majestic scenery of northern Canada and Alaska, was advanced at Calgary.

A report from Winnipeg stating a western committee was discussing plans for the "motorcade" in view of inquiries from all parts of U.S. and Canada from motorists who wish to travel over the new route.

Military authorities, of course, will have to give the "green light" before anything definite can be assured. The end of the war will have to be "in sight" before a "motorcade" is likely.

CHAPTER XII

MONSIEUR Andre Ribott, eight days out of Bir Mazou, was at peace with the world. The renegade, seated beside a glowing fire, had just finished his evening meal. Beside him sat Lt. Kolb and Annette Fournier. Behind the trio stood a soldier, the guard who had kept the French girl under surveillance ever since Ribott had delivered her into the hands of the Germans.

A moon shone over the plain on which the sheep were being rested for the night. A ridge of curving dunes, forested by the northern sheep, and in a portion of the northern sky a patch of cloud was drifting toward the east. If that cloud increased, reflected Ribott, it could afford their unwilling shepherds an opportunity to slip unseen into the shadows of the relatively near-by dunes. He laughed, knowing how faint that danger was. All the water of the caravan was on the trucks behind the barracked camels not a hundred yards to the left of Ribott, and it had been fear of the arid desert as much as the guns of the Germans that had forced the herders into submission.

Even now, out of the darkness, one of the burrowed men was stirring the edge of the hunched sheep, returning to the campfire of his fellows where there was food and drink, and had been fear of the arid desert as much as the guns of the Germans that had forced the herders into submission.

The Kabiri about the blaze shifted to allow the man in the burrow to squat on his haunches and dip into a bowl of couscous. As the newcomer ate, he counted the men circled about the fire. Eight, in addition to himself—enough for his purpose. The empty bowl was set aside; the man belched and shifted his kufta to gaze at the small cloud floating across the stars.

"Sheik Immeddin is among the dunes." The words were spoken barely loud enough to be heard by the nearest Arab. "When that cloud touches the moon, the camel-riders of the Kabiri will sweep through the camp of the Germans."

There was a stir among the Bedouins. A murmur that became a low murmur as all eyes turned to the speaker. That uplifted face outlined in the twilight—had they not seen the blue-eyed man with the slightly crooked nose shot and left for dead at the Lonely Well?

The circle quivered and the man beside Jack Storey said, "What proof have you that our sheik lives?"

"If I have risen from the dead, why not Immeddin?"

The Arab fingered his beard, then nodded. "That we seen the one fact makes the other possible. But you were the money of Immeddin—the killer of Mustafa. We cannot believe you come from our leader."

"Of that, too, I have proof," smiled Storey, and from under his burrows came a loaded pistol that was pressed into the hand of the surprised Bedouin. "Sheik Immeddin sends you this."

OTHER weapons came from beneath the American's cloak. The guns passed around the dipping fire. He shuffled under jerd and aba as Storey whispered the instructions of Immeddin.

The first to stroll away from the fire was Storey himself. The cloud was passing over the dipping fire. He shuffled aimlessly toward the other camp fire. One of the shadowy figures about the blaze stood up. Storey's pulse quickened as he recognized Annette. There were two men seated on the ground and a third, who was seated in the background.

A soldier in the background stepped beside the girl, wrapped a rope about her wrists, then escorted her to the door of a tent several yards away.

Annette disappeared inside the tent and the soldier stationed himself squarely before the entrance. Lt. Kolb might keep her while the unnamed Kabiri, but he was determined that Annette Fournier should not escape him.

A wisp of cloud swirled toward the moon, but dipped away. Storey moved closer, trusting that burrowed and kufta would bring him undetected within striking distance of the men who stood between himself and Annette. The thing was a matter of seconds now.

Andre Ribott turned his head, and Storey moved away from the shadow of the tent. "Come here, you!" called the Frenchman.

Storey halted, touched the automatic beside the dagger, then advanced slowly to answer the summons. But that the lotting figure was a masquerader was farthest from Ribott's thoughts. The renegade waved toward the emptied plates and bowls on the ground before him and Kolb. "Clean up that mess."

The American stooped, gathering up the dishes. Under the shadow of his kufta he glanced, first at the cloud in the sky, then at the two Germans and the Frenchman. He had won his objective too soon. He must not create any disturbance until Immeddin had launched his surprise attack. Bits of cold rice clung to the sides of one of the bowls. Storey seated himself on crossed legs, and began to eat the scraps of the meal.

Lt. Kolb viewed the performance with a disgusted eye. "Filthy dog!" he muttered, rising to his feet. Storey paused in his enforced eating, and above away from his knee one of the gnarled sticks of the bonfire, the action stirring the fire as the brushwood moved. Storey dipped into the bowl again.

"Main Here," Kolb spoke to Ribott. "It seems to me that there are quite a few of those Arabs in the vicinity of these ammunition trucks. I saw three of them just now moving among the camels and baggage. Get over there and tell them to scatter. Those fellows are unarmed, but I have only one man guarding our stuff."

The renegade strode away, and then in the heavens the advancing cloud touched and began eating the surface of the moon. Storey set down his bowl and placed his hand, not under his cloak, but under his knee, close to the thick piece of wood he had thrust deeper into the fire.

Lt. Kolb paused, frowning. Into the silence had come a drumming sound, faint but persistent. The Frenchman on the German's knee as the sound increased in volume. Suddenly, with a startled oath, Kolb left the bedside in a great leap.

"A CHUTUNG!" shouted the running officer. "We are attacked!"

A wild yell from the darkness gave him answer. "La-lah! la-lah! la-lah! And spurring flame sent bullets hailing into the camp.

The guard before the tent gripped his rifle uncertainly. Storey closed his fingers on the twisted branch. Fire whirled around his head, and the flaming brand flew from his hand, like a stone from a sling, and drove into the face of the soldier.

The man gasped in pain as wood and fire dug into his flesh. He dropped the rifle and staggered, clawing at the sparks that blinded him. Lunging forward, Storey caught the falling weapon by the barrel and crashed the heavy stock against the head of the reeling guard.

The Nazi dropped. Storey tore the flap of the tent and darted within. The dim glow of the fire enabled him to see the girl lying on the ground, and his arms swept up the huddled figure.

"It's Jack Storey, Annette," he spoke in her ear.

It seemed incredible that the camp could have reached such a state of pandemonium in the few seconds that had elapsed since Storey had flung the torch. Camels were plunging through the semi-darkness, shouts and gunfire mingled with the snarl and bleat of camels and sheep.

With the girl in his arms, Storey raced toward the trucks, almost tripping over a scamping sheep. From another direction came four soldiers, running for the grenades and guns that would check the furious rush of Immeddin.

A blast of lead met the soldiers as they neared the piled baggage behind which crouched the Kabiri Storey.

It is estimated that the 63,300 acres of sugar beets grown in Canada in 1942 produced 200 million pounds of refined sugar, or about one-fifth of Canada's normal consumption. The objective for 1943 is at present considered to be the greatest amount of beet sugar that can be produced with present facilities.

The Newfoundland sealing steamer Neptune has gone to Davey Jones' locker. Built in 1873, the ship had prosecuted the sealing voyage every spring up to and including 1941. Her total catch in the 68 years was 1,944,620 seals. Her captains were: Samuel Blandford, George Harbour, W. Windsor, W. Bartlett, S. Barbour, J. Hill, J. Donny, W. Windsor, E. White and S. Halford. The Neptune was to have prosecuted the seal fishery this spring.

Clarence had been reading tales of knightly gallantry, and was just thinking that the world today was a poor sort of a place. So he sallied forth (knights always sally forth) to perform an act of chivalry. It was a rainy day, and he saw a lovely girl about to step out of her car onto the muddy pavement. Immediately he whipped off his coat and spread it as a carpet for her dainty feet. Then, with an air of proud silence, he waited for her thanks. "Well, of all the darn fools!" she exclaimed.

WAR DOLLARS DO THREE ESSENTIAL JOBS:

- 1. HELP CARRY ON THE WAR—
Every possible dollar will be needed to bring the war to a successful conclusion. THEREFORE, every dollar you lend enables you to play a vital part in the fight for freedom.
- 2. CURB WASTEFUL SPENDING—
To retard spiralling prices and rises in the cost of living, income must be diverted from unwise purchases and made available for war use. WAR SAVINGS mean money put aside to aid essential war production.
- 3. PROVIDE A NEST EGG—
Following every major war, there is a period of economic re-adjustment. The man who has taken his share of WAR SAVINGS will find this money very useful during this transition period.

RENEWAL OF UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE BOOKS

To all Employers:

The 1942-43 Unemployment Insurance Books expire on March 31st.

New Insurance Books for the fiscal year 1943-44 will be exchanged by the Local Employment and Selective Service Office in your area for expired Insurance Books.

Do not send in your Insurance Books without completing forms enclosed with circular letter 625.

If you have not received this circular letter, get in touch with your nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

Where it is necessary to quote the Employee's Insurance Number, use the number with the prefix letter shown on the front cover of the book: example P-49247, E-2454. Do not quote the book serial number printed on the inside pages of the book.

Protect the benefit rights of your employees by following closely the procedure outlined in the circular letter, and prevent delays by acting now.
